BATTLES IN SOUTHWEST MISSOURI.—We [illegible] the [illegible] having [illegible] two [illegible] General Lyon [illegible] McCulloch, Price [illegible] others in Southwest Missouri [illegible] the St. Louis [illegible] the St. [illegible] dates [illegible] in that matter [illegible] which will be [illegible] to [illegible] We [illegible] the [illegible] of the enemy [illegible] than [illegible] lists.

The war in Southwestern Missouri [illegible] General Lyon has achieved another victory over the [illegible] rebels, and [illegible] for still another. I [illegible] the following of General Lyon's movements.

On Thursday, the 1st day of August, Gen Lyon being satisfied that the rebels were advancing on Springfield in three columns determined to march his forces and meet their center and strongest column, drive it back and then turn on the most northern column and put it to rout. Accordingly on that day he ordered his command, then lying at Pond Spring, to march in a southeasterly direction to the road leading from Springfield to Cassville, and in addition ordered Colonel Deitzler, with the First Regiment Kansas Volunteers, to follow. On the evening of Thursday, Gen Lyon's command encamped at [illegible] creek twelve miles northwest of Springfield. On Friday the command moved forward on the road to Cassville, and after marching some four miles, the advance came in contact with the picket guard of the rebel forces. A number of their men, not dreaming of danger, had taken quarters in a log hut close to the roadside. Captain Totten, with one of his large guns, shattered one corner of the building, greatly alarming the inmates, who fled in great dismay. The army then marched to Dug Spring and encamped for the night—General Lyon being satisfied that the enemy had possession of the water at Curran.

The camp was formed and parties of cavalry sent out to reconnoiter. A squad of cavalry of twenty men observed a regiment of rebel infantry approaching, and the Lieutenant seeing there was no chance to escape honorably without a fight, gave orders to charge. The twenty put to flight the whole regiment. This seems almost like a Munchausen story, but my informant gives me his oath that it is true. Others from the southwest confirm it. The charge was a gallant affair, but was not intended by General Lyon. The Federal troops lost in the charge four killed and six wounded. The Lieutenant who led the charge was killed. His name has not been given. Eight of the rebel infantry were killed and several wounded.

After this skirmish a large body of rebel cavalry came up and took an elevated position [illegible] the purpose of [illegible] Among the rebel cavalry it is said there was [illegible] and when Captain Totten [illegible] shell [illegible] knocked the [illegible] off his horse [illegible] morning [illegible] the [illegible] States troops [illegible] Captain Totten.

This seems to have ended the fight on that day. The [illegible] correspondent gives [illegible]

On Saturday morning the army moved forward [illegible] the rebels [illegible] the hills [illegible] southwest of the place [illegible] the [illegible] Gen Rains [illegible] Lyon immediately [illegible] the [illegible] the [illegible] advance. Our informant was present when the [illegible] would have [illegible] About two [illegible] the enemy [illegible] Dug Spring [illegible] upon the [illegible] that [illegible] Wilson's Creek [illegible]

The army [illegible] for the night at [illegible] On Sunday morning General Lyon had [illegible] to [illegible] Springfield, [illegible] most of the rebels are mounted [illegible] him and [illegible] Springfield.

[illegible] Price and [illegible] have twenty thousand troops and McCulloch has four thousand well armed and [illegible]

Springfield [illegible] from Rolla [illegible] in town last night and through [illegible] the Democrat with the following additional news.

General Lyon with his force had fallen back on Springfield and was preparing for a vigorous defense. He reached Springfield on Monday morning. The rebels were advancing on the latter place by four different roads and their advance was ascertained to be fourteen to fifteen miles distant. Three of the routes reconnoitered by our informant on which the enemy were moving were the Neosho, Carthage and the Overland road. Gen Lyon called in two thousand five hundred Home Guards from the neighborhood of [illegible]. Further than this addition to his force, no other reinforcements seemed to be in [illegible] Colonels Stevenson and Wyman were at Rolla yesterday morning with a force of two thousand men. It was expected that the enemy would [illegible] an immediate attack from the fact that their commissariat was in a miserable condition, the rebels depending on forced contributions for temporary supplies. They live from "hand to mouth," and necessity obliges them, after running over the country and destroying all within their reach, to fight or starve. It was generally remarked in Springfield that General Lyon was perfectly confident of success in the event of the attack, but some entertained apprehensions. A convoy of sixty wagons, with provisions, had arrived at Springfield—a favorable circumstance in view of possible contingencies. The best estimate places the rebel force at 20,000. Their arms are thought to be very inferior, judging by the specimens taken during the skirmish on Friday. Gen Lyon had no entrenchments, depending upon his splendid artillery in the open field.

The Republican also has news up to Monday noon from passengers directly from Rolla.

At that time Lyon had arrived in Springfield and rejoined Sigel's command after the late engagement at Dug Spring. Scouts had been sent out in the direction of the State troops, who reported that the latter were marching on Springfield by four different roads, some of them being about ten miles and others about fifteen miles distant. They were supposed to be about 20,000 strong. It was represented that they had ransacked the surrounding country for supplies to such an extent as to make it impossible for them to get more, and that they were compelled either to fight or disband. A battle, therefore would seem to be inevitable, and has in all probability taken place ere now.

The forces of Lyon and Sigel numbered about 7,000, in addition to which there were about 2,500 Home Guards indifferently armed, and hardly prepared for a fight. It is supposed that if the arms taken at the engagement at Dug Spring are a fair specimen of the enemy's arms he cannot take Springfield even with a force of 20,000. But on the other hand, it is confidently asserted that if their arms are good, taking into consideration the desperate state of their feelings, Lyon and Sigel may not be able to withstand the shock.

The regiments of Colonels Stephenson and Wyman had arrived at Rolla yesterday morning and were awaiting further orders.

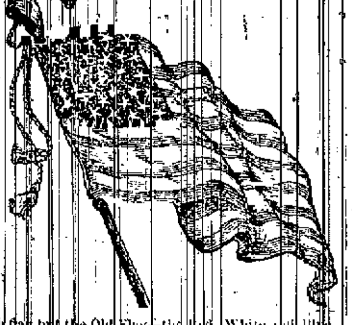
OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.



Nor flag but the Old Flag—the Red, White and Blue,
With the stars of a Union united and true!
Arise and defend it, ye sons of the brave,
Whose blood bought the land that your valor must save.

FRIDAY MORNING, AUGUST 30, 1861.

The Advertiser and the Army.

The Advertiser has found a new subject for animadversion, in the appointments recently made of Brigadier-Generals. His greatest trouble seems to be that his very special and particular friend Col. Wright of the 9th Infantry has been overlooked and outranked by civilians, and especially "by such men as Col. Baker and Col. Lander."

Now we don't believe that Col. Wright will feel very much complimented by the laudations of the Advertiser; or is disposed to recognise that "Southern Sympathiser," Geo. L. Curry, as the special defender of his interests and his honor; and yet the tone of the Advertiser seems to indicate that a more than ordinary friendship exists between them.

It is very certain that the Advertiser, although not having one-third of the circulation of the Oregonian, is in receipt of much the larger share of the army patronage. This fact alone would seem to justify the pretensions of that "secession sheet" of being recognized as the special defender of the regular Army.

We would not by any means be understood as indulging the slightest suspicion of Col. Wright's loyalty,—nor are we one jot or tittle behind the Advertiser in our admiration of Col. Wright as a Military Commander, and a most estimable gentleman, and it is for this reason that we would call attention to the arrogant assumptions of that paper, which, if permitted longer to pass without notice from Col. Wright's true friends,—would very soon render his fidelity to the Government a subject of a suspicion at least among the people.

It is well understood among all good Union-loving men in Oregon and elsewhere, that the friendship and special laudations from the Advertiser, Corvallis Union and other kindred prints, justify the suspicion of opposition to the war policy of the Administration: if not actual sympathy with the secession movements; while the bitter denunciations, and lying accusations indulged in towards Col. Baker and others, is a sure passport to their confidence on the part of these gentlemen.

The Advertiser, in their issue of Wednesday, the 21st of August, among other things, says:—

"We feel that we have a right to complain, when such men as Baker, Kelly and Lander are appointed to such a distinguished and responsible position as Brigadier General of the army of the United States—a lucrative and life office—over a gentleman like Col. Wright, whose life has been devoted to his country in the profession of arms."

Now we apprehend that the Advertiser is entirely mistaken in his facts. We believe it will turn out that Col. Baker, nor no other of the eleven Brigadier appointments alluded to by that print, has been appointed to "life offices" in the regular U. S. Army; but on the contrary, have been appointed to Generalships in the U. S. Army which has been raised for putting down the rebellion, and the moment this shall be accomplished, will retire from the army, as will Generals Butler, Banks, and a dozen others. But even were it, as stated by that captious secession sheet, (in the case of Col. Baker at least,) no injustice would have been done to Col. Wright or any other army officer. It would be no disparagement to them, that a man of Col. Baker's transcendant abilities, and acknowledged gallantry, should outrank them temporarily, or even for a life time.

If the man of the Advertiser was not steeped to the eyes in the slough of partizan hate and malignity, he would not keep concealed from his readers the bright pages in the history of Col. Baker, and more especially would he not so studiously ignore the fact, which stands out in bright colors on the pages of the military history of our country—that this same Col. E. D. Baker, of whom he now speaks so contemptuously as a military man, performed one of the most daring and brilliant achievements of the Mexican War.

The Advertiser would most gladly conceal from them the fact that Col. Baker, now a Brigadier General of the Volunteer corps of the U. S. Army, at the battle of Cerro Gordo, after his gallant leader, General Shields, has fallen, badly wounded, charged a battery of six guns, supported by 500 infantry; at the head of only one hundred and fifty men, and captured it—with a loss of nearly one-third of his force, in killed and wounded.

If the Advertiser and men of his ilk do not choose to remember this, the loyal Union loving portion of the people of Oregon will, and while they will most cordially approve his temporary absence from his seat in the Senate, for the purpose of aiding the Government in putting down this unnatural and wicked rebellion, they will overwhelm the Advertiser and other Southern sympathisers with their scorn and contempt.

A Secession Flag Raised in Yamhill County.

We learn that a man by the name of Wyleh, has raised a Secession Flag on North Fork, Yamhill County, and that he and his Secession neighbors are determined that it shall float there, despite the remonstrances of the citizens of Yamhill County.

The facts have been duly presented to Judge Deady, by affidavit, and the citizens of the county are awaiting the action of Judge Deady in the case. That the raising of a Secession flag in Oregon—which is the flag of our enemy, with a determination to sustain it, is giving aid and comfort to that enemy, and therefore treason, to us there can be no question. If Judge Deady permits this, the example will be likely to be followed in other parts of the State, where there are secessionists, deadly enemies to our government.—We noted a day or two since the attempt of secessionists to pull down and degrade the United States banner in Benton County, and we are yet to see a word of condemnation of that act by any of the secession papers of Oregon. We see in Yamhill County the effects of the teachings of Gov. Curry, (now it is said a candidate for the Senate,) in his capacity as editor of the Portland Advertiser.

The position of Judge Deady is a responsible one. He was appointed Judge, and is paid for his services out of the Treasury of the United States. The United States is yet a government, and if his duties require him to witness, without action, the raising of secession flags about Oregon—thus giving aid and comfort to the enemy, who are seeking to break up the government—we certainly have taken wrong views of his official duty.

"The Secession Flag in Yamhill has to come down. This will be done by her citizens, unless the proper authorities interfere, at every hazard and at every cost."

Mysterious Disappearance.—Mr. Willey, the receiving clerk of the steamer Sierra Nevada, suddenly disappeared from on board that ship on the night of the 20th inst., while lying in Esquimalt harbor. Efforts have been made by the officers on board and the police of Victoria to discover his whereabouts, but up to the time of the steamer leaving they have been of no avail. Mr. Willey is spoken of as an industrious, sober man, and it is supposed that he must have been foully dealt with, perhaps murdered and thrown overboard by some Indians who had been to work on board the ship on the night of this disappearance.

The patriotic resolutions adopted by the Conference of the M. E. Church of this State, give very great trouble to our secession editors. They try to break their force upon the hearts of the people. They criticise and censure, but the resolutions remain, as bright and beautiful as ever. The Guard, more weak and more flippant than others, speaks of mud thrown upon the garments of the authors of the resolutions. That has been done, but their garments are not soiled by the dirt cast by secession editors.

The Oregon Peace Party.—The New Orleans Crescent strikes out a platform for the "Oregon Peace Party." It says:

What we want, is for them to only be a peace party on the broad ground that the South is right on principle. When they take the position that the provocation of the South was more than sufficient, that the right of secession, under our form of government is undoubted; then, and only then, will there be a peace party at the North worth talking about.

"A civil war, such as is now, should be ended at once."—Gov. Curry.

"I want sudden, bold, forward determined war."—Col. Baker.

Extremes are together for once.

The Gold Prospect in the Blue Mountains.

We have already stated that the party of prospecters from this valley, of which Mr. Adams was a member, have returned, and made such reports that a large company will [illegible] and other [illegible] to take advantage of the discovery. They will leave [illegible]. The Statesman contains the further particulars of the discovery. That paper says:—

"The prospecting party has returned from [illegible]. Seven [illegible] from Marion county—[illegible] H. Smith, Jas. Smith, W. M. [illegible], and Pierce—[illegible] at their [illegible], and on their return [illegible] from Clackamas county, with [illegible] of provisions. [illegible] of the two parties, consisting of [illegible] Adams, and [illegible] from Clackamas county, followed the [illegible] trail back to a place answering to McNary's account. They found quartz in abundance, but were deterred by the Indians from prospecting in the creek. They dug down in a neighboring ravine, however, and found a fair prospect of gold. Considering they had sufficiently verified McNary's statement, and found the place, they took no further risk with the Indians, but made their way to the Willamette."

A Feature of the Times.

Mr. Bush writes [illegible] Statesman:—"In one of the Philadelphia districts, a Congressional election was recently held to fill a vacancy. The district had been whig and republican for thirty years—had never returned a democrat to Congress. This fact, doubtless, led the republicans to nominate a party candidate. At the convention, it was proposed to appoint a committee to confer with Union men of all parties on the subject of a candidate. This was met by some intemperate speeches, declaring that the district was overwhelmingly republican, and that they asked no favors of anybody. Such counsels prevailed; the proposition for conference was voted down, and a straight republican nominated upon a republican platform. The result was that the people elected Charles J. Biddle, a firm Union democrat, and Colonel of one of the Pennsylvania regiments—the first democrat who for thirty years, or more, had been returned from that district. The people will not tolerate partisan politics in the prosecution of this war, where seen through, they will bring the shrewd laid plans of veteran hacks to naught."

Return of the New York Troops.—The Tribune says: "The Sixty-ninth regiment met with a glorious and most flattering reception. Thomas Francis Meagher was with it, and was very cordially received. He was cheered all along the line. It is understood that a grand banquet is to be given to the Sixty-ninth. The storm of applause, which broke out at the pier, swept along the masses that lined the entire route of the march. It was more like the roar of artillery heard in the distance, than the sound of human voices; and the flag-waving and handkerchief-waving seemed so general as to give the streets a most animated appearance. Flags streaming from the housetops and window, became more brilliant from their illumination by the bright sunshine, while from the Astor House, Metropolitan, Tiffany's, and other places, "the sun-burst standard" waved in welcome to the returning soldiery. A salute of sixty-nine guns was belched forth from the throats of the guns of Lt. Grafly's Fourth Artillery as the regiment landed at the Battery."

A letter from St. Louis dated August 6th, says: "A well-informed citizen of Southeast Missouri, who possesses peculiar faculties for acquiring a knowledge of the plans of the Secessionists in that quarter, intimates as his conviction that their real object is not to attack Cairo and Bird's Point, but to make a [illegible] attempt to obtain possession of St. Louis. The possession of Cairo or Bird's Point, even if they could obtain it with little loss of life, would be of inconsiderable advantage to them, since they could not control the railroad leading from there into Illinois, and would be in danger of an attack from expeditions fitted out at St. Louis and on the Ohio. Cairo is important to the Federal Government as an outwork of defense to Illinois, and the [illegible] to the Tennesseeans it would be a dangerous possession, incapable of supporting the force that would be required to hold it. On the contrary, St. Louis would be a position of the greatest value, and Jackson and his friends have taken pains to demonstrate this fact to the Tennessee leaders."

We have letters which say that there are [illegible] tribes, and all [illegible] commit outrages when they can. The only way when they do this is to require the chiefs to give them up, which, if the matter is properly managed, will be done, and when they are obtained, hang them. It is not believed there will be an Indian war. The fort at the Cascades is in no danger of being taken, but one Indian family are in its neighborhood, and they are said not to be very hostile.

The Mountaineer notices rumors that rich gold mines have been discovered in the Grand Ronde country. We are impressed with the belief that large portions of eastern Oregon will be found a gold country.

CITY.

CHINESE [illegible].—Lee Fong and the pals of the Celestial Kingdom, now sojourning in our midst, yesterday swore out writs of arrest against [illegible], charging him with the intention of leaving the State for China, and thereby defrauding the plaintiffs of sundry sums of money. We have not been informed as to the result of Lee Fong's coercion policy.

Mr. Coffin left this city several days since to overtake the train of provisions he some time ago started from the Dalles for the great Oregon Emigration Company. This company were traveling slowly and circumspectly through the hostile Indian country.

Shipment of Gold Dust per Sierra Nevada,

Wells, Fargo & Co	$15,500.
Ladd, Reed & Co	8,650.
Allen & Lewis	8,100.
Brown & Co., (Dalles)	3,000.
A. Mayer	2,000.
Baum Bro's	1,800.
J. Seller & Co	1,500.
Other shippers	[illegible]
Total	$48,350.

We have Victoria papers to the 27th. The Otter had arrived from Frazer's River, with from 60 to 70,000 dollars worth of gold dust. The British Colonist congratulates the country on the "prospects ahead," and gives particulars to show that all the mines are yielding rich. It says that rich gold mines have been discovered for 600 miles along the Saskatchewan, and that the mines are likely to prove as rich on the east as on the west of the Rocky Mountains.

Master Volney Smith, son of the late Delazon Smith, was a candidate for the place at West Point, made vacant by the desertion of the son of Joe Lane. It is stated that the lack of qualifications has prevented the acceptance of Master Smith as a cadet.

Rev. O. Fisher, of the M. E. Church South, is about to leave Oregon for New Orleans, to attend a Conference. If he expresses there the same love for the Union that he does here he will not be likely to return.

The company which left Vancouver some time since to open a road to Simcoe, are all safe. The Indians were entirely friendly and glad to have the road made.

The Olympia Standard says that a volcano has made its appearance upon the summit of a mountain on Hood's Canal.

The Mountaineer says that a Railroad is likely to be built on the Washington side over the DesChutes portage; and asserts that the effects of such a road upon the Dalles city, should be counteracted by the building of a Railroad on the Oregon side. Let us have both!

The Mountaineer says that there are some incipient movements for the pardoning of another penitentiary convict—J. C. Jamieson.

The Mountaineer says that Capt. Pierce has come in from his prospecting trip to the Blue Mountains. He is going back—which is a satisfactory sign that he has made important discoveries.

The Mountaineer says that a portion of the overland emigration have arrived at the Dalles. They report that the emigration behind are getting along without difficulty. The Indians talk "wuh" but make no hostile demonstrations.

The Mountaineer has an article severely censuring the Governor for pardoning Francisca De O. Velarde, convicted in the Wasco Circuit Court of the crime of manslaughter, and sentenced to ten years imprisonment in the penitentiary. The account of the crime for which he was thus to be punished, shows that Velarde was a brutal, murderous man, and that there was no apology for the crime. The Mountaineer considers the pardon an evidence of the Governor's imbecility. Before making this imputation the Mountaineer should have ascertained the means brought to bear on the Governor to procure the pardon.

To the Mountaineer of this week we give credit for a number of interesting items of news.

Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters.—A specific for dyspepsia, diarrhea, dysentery, general debility, chills and fever, liver complaint, bilious remittent fevers, and the pains and weaknesses which creep upon us in old age. [illegible] adherents we [illegible] and a verdict. The trial has come off, the verdict has been rendered, and the Bitters are to-day the most popular remedy, for the time they have been in existence, in this or any other country. [illegible] continues to this equal increase in popularity with marvelous rapidity, simply because the world wants it, will have it, cannot do without it. The dyspeptic demands it as his only help, the victims of diarrhea or dysentery believe in it, the bilious sufferer dare not let one bottle run out before he gets another. Both sexes, all ages, all classes regard it as the most wonderful invigorant ever compounded. Hence the enormous demand. Sold everywhere by Druggists, Liquor Dealers, and Grocers.

The Medical and Surgical Institute of DR. L. J. CZAPKAY is already secured in a position which places it, as well as its proprietor, far above the assaults of envy and professional malice. In the schools of France, the highest prizes are often awarded to practitioners in this department of medical science, and they occupy, with others, an equally lofty position in the profession. Ricord is an illustrious example, a shining light among the philosophical stars of his age in Europe, and Dr. Czapkay has fully equalled him in this country; as a proof of which, the Philadelphia College of Medicine complimented him with a Diploma, and the honorary ad eundem degree. Selecting this as his field of operation, although qualified as a graduate of the University of Pesth, and late Chief Surgeon of the Hungarian Revolutionary army, for more extended labors, Dr. L. J. Czapkay has bent his earnest attention to the cure of chronic and private diseases, in which he has become so great an expert, that he is now regarded as the master in this branch of his profession throughout the United States, and his portrait and biography are published as matter of interest to their readers in the most exclusive journals. The Doctor's offices are at his Medical and Surgical Institute, on Sacramento street, corner of Leidesdorff, nearly opposite the buildings of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, San Francisco. We ask particular attention of our readers to the sworn certificates of remarkable cures in another column of this paper. Persons not wishing to lose time in corresponding, please enclose $10 in their letters, and they will get immediate attention to their cases. Address, L. J. CZAPKAY, M. Portland, May 15, 1861tf

Commercial and Financial.

We have commercial news from San Francisco from a private source, as late as August 20th. The state of the produce market is thus given: The receipts of wheat since the [illegible] instant, 93,357 sacks. There have been no sales of any moment at $1 40 per 100 lbs. Wheat purchased some time since at $1 50, is now being delivered. There can be no doubt that a large portion of the crop will go into store and will be held till spring unless shippers again advance their rates to $1 50 @ $1 55 per 100 lbs. Sales have been made, and are making, of California superfine flour at $4 30; extra do. at $4 90.

A feeling prevails among commercial men at San Francisco that the conclusion was becoming more general, that the war, which has now opened in earnest, will be more protracted, more expensive, and perhaps, more detrimental to commerce, than was at first supposed. The expense of maintaining the Government under present circumstances will be heavy, but it is fortunate that the money will be spent among us, giving encouragement to all branches of business.

To San Francisco per Steamer Sierra Nevada.—1000 sks flour, 55 bbls butter, 1[illegible] bxs eggs, 8 coops chickens, 153 bxs fruit, [illegible] horses, 10 dry hides, 11 sks bacon, [illegible] pkgs Ordnance and Military stores, 43 cases tobacco, 11 rolls leather, 5 bales wool, [illegible] pkgs sundries.

JOHN C. BUTTERWORTH'S

CELEBRATED

CHEMICAL SOFT SOAP!

THE CHEAPEST, MOST ECONOMICAL AND LABOR-saving Soap ever discovered.

PATENTED OCTOBER, 1860.

This Soap recommends itself for the following reasons: it is not only the best soap in use for the wash-tub and the toilet, but it is the cheapest; washing is performed with half the labor required by other soaps; it removes [illegible] tar and grease from woolen and cotton goods, [illegible] the great desideratum of the age.

☞ Put up in five and ten pound cans. Each can warranted to make sixty and one hundred and twenty pounds respectively.

Full directions for making accompany each can.

"This Soap will work its way into every Laundry, Bath and Kitchen in the United States."—Pr[illegible] Journal.

"No family should be without Butterworth's Chemical Soap, as it is not only the best but cheapest soap in use."—Boston Journal.

To the Afflicted:

[illegible]

Remarkable Instance of Medical Relief.

Below will be found the certificates of three of the sufferers from [illegible], having recovered their former health, and impelled by gratitude, gave their cases and remedial agent, and their statements authenticated by a Notary Public. The demands of society imperiously command their publicity, and we commend their perusal to the attention of all afflicted:

Certificate.—The undersigned, desirous of [illegible] those who may be unfortunate enough to be similarly afflicted, where a permanent relief of their sufferings may be obtained, feels it his duty to thus publicly express his and sincere gratitude to Dr. L. J. Czapkay, for the [illegible] recovery of his health. Borne down by the distressing [illegible] [illegible]

[L. S.] JOHN MIDDLETON, Notary Public.

[illegible], June 2d, 18[illegible]

Dr. L. J. Czapkay, San Francisco—Sir: I have taken the last of your medicine, and do not think I shall need any more, as I feel very well, except that I have not entirely got my strength yet, but soon will with the appetite I have. It is just three weeks, you may recollect, since I called on you in a state, with my constitution as I thought, broken entirely, and never thought you would be able to cure me perfectly, but thought you might be able to [illegible] the pain in my back and head, and strengthen my nerves, so that I would not get excited and tremble at everything. Now that you know what I expected, you will judge of my satisfaction at my complete recovery from [illegible] symptoms, and the removal of those sores and blotches on my skin, and the ulcers from my throat, and the cutting pain of those emissions, which you said were principally the cause of my sickness. I can hardly tell you which is the greatest, my joy or my surprise, for except not having got my strength, I feel as well as any man can feel.

Enclosed I send you twenty dollars over your charge, as I think myself cheaply cured. If you think anybody will be benefited, you may put this letter in the newspapers. I am gratefully yours,

THOMAS HAYDEN.

Thankfulness is the incentive to gratitude.

Certificate.—Prompted by an honest desire of my heart, I wish to lay before the public a case which deserves commendation, not only as an act of scientific skill, but [illegible] humanity also. About two years ago, I suddenly, and from causes unknown to me, was seized with a fit of [illegible], which, owing to my inability to meet the expenses consequent upon a thorough medical treatment, and the discouragement which I met with on attempting it, soon became such (I was then led to believe) as to defy the skill of any physician. I was frequently, while in pursuit of my [illegible], thrown down to the ground without the slightest warning, and although insensible to the agonies, I yet deplored the miseries of my life, and soon learned to look upon those who would render assistance or shelter me from danger as enemies who sought to prolong the existence of my misery. While in this state, and having previous to my affliction tasted the sweets of life, I once more was induced to try, seeking aid of a physician, and, by recommendation, called upon Dr. L. J. Czapkay. I told him of my circumstances and of my inability to reward him for his services; regardless of which, however, he at once undertook my case, and with the blessing of God, I was once more restored to perfect health. Unable to reward him for the boon which I at present, and yet conscious of my indebtedness, I consider it due to myself and all afflicted, to make the case public, in order that those in need of medical advice may find a physician in whom every confidence can be placed.
